During the last 2 years Palm Beach County had record low unemployment rates. 97 CareerSource stories were viewed by nearly 7 million people. The 2021/2022 state of the workforce report is being used as a business tool to assist with planning and providing effective programs and services to residents and employers. The report shows the characteristics of Palm Beach County's workforce from size, education and training to wages, employers and key industry sectors. CareerSource jobseeker and employer success stories were published in the Palm Beach County Business Development Board's quarterly magazine. The magazine reaches national and international audiences looking to relocate to, or expand in, Palm Beach County. A new "Booking" feature on the CareerSource website allows job seekers and employers to schedule and meet virtually with CareerSource recruiters and career consultants. The website will eventually be changed to a common statewide format as part of the state's plans to align regions.
- e. Glades Update (Charles Duval): Ryan Homes has planned the new construction of Hillsboro Estates consisting of 250 single family, 1,300-2,200 square foot homes in Belle Glade with prices starting in the mid $200,000. CareerSource held a community meeting on February 9 in partnership with Ryan Homes, the city of Belle Glade, LORE and Guardians of Glades for residents to learn more about the new housing and programs available to assist with purchasing a home. A second follow up CareerSource community event to discuss employment opportunities with the builder and subcontractors will be held on February 23 in partnership with West Tech and Palm Beach County. Several upcoming employer hiring events and new employee hires through CareerSource's On-The-Job Training program were discussed. Senator Berman is renting office space from CareerSource and is co-located at the CareerSource west career center. The unemployment rates in the Glades: South Bay 10%, Belle Glade 13% and Pahokee 23%, are higher than central Palm Beach County but they are decreasing.
- f. Business Services Update (Michael Corbit): CareerSource hosted the Economic Development Stakeholders meeting with our community partners to talk about economic development projects. Future quarterly stakeholder meetings during the year will continue to be held at the CareerSource central career center. The upcoming job fairs, hiring events and expos and those that have been held were discussed. On January 31 CareerSource participated in the Claim Your Future Showcase event at the convention center, where 1,200 high school students attended the event and employers participated to place young adults into employment and internships. The National Engineer's Week Honors and Awards Banquet was held on February 15. Companies such as Aerojet Rocketdyne and Pratt Whitney sponsored the event. Board member Alyssa Freeman was thanked for helping CareerSource put together the careers in Marine Industry Day held on March 16, which was a field trip for young adults to local marinas and the port to let them know about the jobs available in the marine industry. A career in Aviation Day will be held next and then a career in Hospitality Day. The New York Post published an article that says Florida added more tech companies in 2021 than any other state. An article in the current Palm Beach County Business Development Board magazine includes 3 CareerSource job seeker success stories who also obtained employment with the Business Development Board. The magazine also includes an article about CareerSource board member President Ava Parker. Several new projects with employers are planned or already have come to Palm Beach County creating jobs.

g. President & CEO Updates (Julia Dattolo): New board members David Gobeo and Commissioner Marci Woodward were introduced and welcomed. There have been several recent major leadership staff changes at both CareerSource Florida and the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity. The Consortium has a new leader with Palm Beach County Mayor Weiss as the new Chair. Palm Beach County's economy is strong. The current 2.2% unemployment rate continues to be at a record low under 3% for the last 11 consecutive months, consistently under the national average. State of the workforce data in the areas of leisure, healthcare and construction was discussed showing the number of jobs added/openings and barriers to employment. 250 current job openings are in Employ Florida with a minimum salary of over $100,000. Palm Beach County has the highest average salary in the state at $68,000 annually.
